

Creative Writing Group with Bill Hohfeld

Every Wednesday starting July 31st
3:00pm – 5:00pm at American Legion

Nyack Post 310, 85 Piermont Avenue, Nyack, NY 10960

Free of charge to all U.S. Veterans and Gold Star Mothers

Bill Hohfeld is currently teaching composition and literature courses in the English department at Rockland Community College. He's worked as a journalist, written for various newspapers and magazines and published a Novel. Using musical and written writing prompts, moderated peer groups and one-on-one instruction, this class will help you find your writer's voice. Discover there is joy both in the finished product, and the process of creating it. Bring your current manuscript if you have one. If not, just bring pen, paper, an open mind, and a playful attitude.

Whether your goal is to someday see your name in print, or just to make sure you leave a well written memoir for your grandchildren, your journey can begin here!

To register, contact Sharon Bailey, Veteran Outreach Administrator, at sbailey@bridgesrc.org, (845) 521-9440.
